Heating Season is here. Please reach out with your request for heaters, heat trace cable, tote heaters, insulation, controls, Cooling Tower control panels, and more.

W. H. Cooke & Co. manufactures thermocouples and RTD's for form, fill and seal machines and we also sell the cartridge heaters for those same sealing jaws. We are now selling the actual sealing jaws and forming collars for form, fill, and seal machines. We can cross most brands and if we don't have your particular part number on file, we can build from a print or sample. Please reach out with any requests for sensors, controls, heaters, formers, and jaws.

Please send us information on your bagging/sealing machine and we can provide a quote.

We offer ISO-COVER insulation for injection molding and extruder barrels that can insulate over the barrel or the band heater itself. We also have ISO-COVERS for valves as well as heated ISO-COVERS. (see below in the newsletter for more information)

Please consider W. H. Cooke & Co. for your instrumentation, heater, and PPE needs in 2021.

Thanks!

In The Community- Glen Rock Carolers

In the small town of Glen Rock about 15 miles east of Hanover, there is a committed caroling group with a long history of caroling in the wee hours of Christmas morning since 1848.

Here is a small excerpt of their history.

"All of these men came from England and from the same general area - Cheshire, Derbyshire, and Yorkshire. These men would become the first members of what is now known as the Glen Rock Carolers Association."

What would make these men journey out into the darkness of Christmas morning to begin this singing ritual? Well, historians suggest that these men may have been homesick for their English Christmas traditions of serenading their neighbors , bringing 19-year-old George Shaw, 21-year-old Mark Radcliff, 28-year-old Charles Heathcote, 52-year-old Mark Heathcote and 61-year-old James Heathcote out into the streets to serenade the residents of Glen Rock."

The full history of the Glen Rock Carolers along with more photos can be found here
